SCOPE AND IMPORTANCE OF THE CONFERENCE:

The 2nd International Conference on Emerging Trends in Science and Social Sciences (ICETSSS - 2023), provide a forum for discussion of disciplinary and interdisciplinary approaches to knowledge creation within and across the various science and social sciences and between social, natural and applied sciences. Each of the sciences of the social is marked by its distinctive disciplinary modes, thinking practices of Anthropology, Behavioural Sciences, Cognitive Science, Cultural Studies, Demography, Economics, Education, Geography, Humanities, Commerce, Mathematics, Management, Politics, Policy Studies, Psychology, Social Welfare Sociology, Library Sciences and Earth Science.

These are some of the out-of-the-ordinary knowledge processes that might justify use of the word 'science', not only in the social sciences but also in the natural, physical, mathematical and applied sciences. Science has a categorical frame of reference based on higher levels of semantic precision and regularity than everyday discourse. On this foundation, it builds theories which model the world and develop explanatory paradigms. Science develops frames of reasoning and explanation: logic, inference, prediction, hypothesis, induction and deduction. Science is also application-oriented, as it may be pragmatic, designing and implementing practical solutions within larger frames of reference and achieving technical and instrumental outcomes.

The natural and technological sciences are themselves more subject to contestation around axes of human interest than the narrow understanding of science seems to be able to comprehend. Whether it is bioethics, or climate change, or the debates around Darwinism and Intelligent Design, or the semantics of computer systems, questions of politics and ideology are bound closely to the ostensible evidence. A reconstructive view of the social, natural and applied sciences would be holistic, attempting always to avoid the occlusions of narrow methodological approaches.

The humanizing role of knowledge on individuals and societies supplemented by technological innovations leads to expanded employment opportunities, sustainable communities and increased quality of life. As Science and Social Sciences generate and disseminate this knowledge, the future of our societies highly depends on them. Aiming to work towards better visibility, integration and implementation of Science and Social Sciences into research policies, the event would acts as a forum for scholarly exchange of ideas, examination of the common grounds and bridges of Science and Social Sciences with technological, natural and other fields of science. The Conference would brings together researchers, academicians, policy makers, business people, leaders from non-governmental organisations and civil society groups from all around the globe. We hope that the Conference would provide you with thought-provoking discussions, opportunities for partnership and a pleasant stay in Thailand.

OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE:

The International Conference on Recent Trends in Science and Social Science will be a significant event to create an opportunity to bring together researchers from academia, industry, corporate, scientists, scholars, students, natural activists and environmental organizations and to encourage collaborations through research talks and presentations to put forward many thought provoking strategies sharing the common agenda using classical and other advanced approaches that have been made available for mankind during 21st century.

The conference aims to address the following objectives;

- To orient delegates from different countries about the importance and integration of science and social science disciplines.
- To acquaint them on philosophical and theoretical dimensions of science and social science research.
- To deliberate on different aspects of formulating research questions and objectives, setting research design to obtain novel results and science and social science disciplines.
- To create more impact among the delegates through collaborative research between the scholars, teachers, industrialists and entrepreneurs of science and social science disciplines.
- To discuss about the best practices for researchers to engage with government, public and non-government organizations.
- To analyse the fundamental role that the science and social sciences play in society.
- To deliberate the expanded role for scholars of science and social sciences in tackling societal and cultural problems through academic research.

"Our vision is to inspire and motivate researchers and academicians to achieve their full potential in the fields of Science, Technology and Social Science"

The conference will highlight the importance of basic and applied aspects of science and social science disciplines which will be addressed by international representatives drawn from academic and research institutions, pharmaceutical companies, governments and entrepreneurs. The main objective of this Science and Social Science conference is to address and focuses on challenges faced by the academicians, researchers and industrialists across the globe. We are quite confident that the deliberations and discussions of the conference would help evolving suitable ideas through theoretical lectures by the eminent academicians and researchers in the thrust areas of science and social science disciplines.

ABOUT THE ORGANIZERS

The benefit of education, let alone higher education, was a distant dream for the poor people of Virudhunagar region until the nineteen forties. It was in the backdrop that the philanthropic and munificent members of the merchant community of this town were longing for a college of their own. In June, 1947, the idea of establishing a college in Virudhunagar was mooted at Nadar Mahajana Sangam meet held at Kovilpatti. Rao Bahadur M.S.P. Senthikumara Nadar who was present on the dais at that moment made on the spot announcement to donate a hefty sum of Rupees Two lakhs to start a college in Virudhunagar. Thiru M.S.Periasamy Nadar was gracious enough to donate and acquire one hundred and fifty acres of land on the Arupukottai road for the college. The Institution has attained an eminent status with 26 UG, 15 PG and 13 M.Phil., and 11 Ph.D Programme. The UGC granted Autonomous status to the institution in 2012. The college is accredited with A Grade by NAAC in the fourth cycle of accreditation. The institution has secured 49th rank in National Institutional Ranking Framework by the Ministry of Human Resource Development, New Delhi. Today, after 76 years of its inception, VHNSN College has grown from strength to strength, scaling new heights and crossing many a milestone on the academic road. Even a casual glance at the campus of this college will speak volumes for its multidimensional development. The sprawling campus dotted with lush green trees, the imposing and massive buildings, the sophisticated infrastructure with the state of art technology, the computerized and well - stocked library, the committed and competent team of staff and the enlightened management has collectively transformed this great institution into a towering colossus, standing astride and the pinnacle of academic excellence.

The Department of Botany introduced B.Sc Botany in the year 1967 and its was upgraded as Post Graduate in the year 1984. The Department offered M.Phil programme in 1984. The Department was recognized as a Research Centre in the year 1992. Currently the department is working on varied fields of basic and applied plant biology.
